Because of the unfolding space time continuum, we cannot stand still, and we live only in the present or the 'now'. Time drives us relentlessly forward - always forward.

We therefore, being unable to stand still, have to make one of the most important choices of our physical existences:

Where do I live? Do I live in the past, or do I live in the future?

The past contains uncounted numbers of: gods, angels, divine beings, saviours, lords of karma, beings of light, masters, gurus, teachers, paths, systems, archetypes, established philosophies, epistemologies, religions, and group activities.

However, the past places no real responsibility on you, once your lot has been cast on your chosen path.

On the other hand, the future contains only you.

The future places total responsibility on you, to create your own path and reality.

You must therefore choose which path to follow - the past, or the future.

End
