Introduction

The following material is a general overview of the Whitechapel murders - 1888-1891.

The Victims

The Whitechapel Murders were a series of eleven murders which occurred between Apr 1888 and Feb 1891. Ten of the victims were prostitutes and one was an unidentified female (only the torso was found).

It was during this period that the Jack the Ripper murders took place.

Even today, 2012, it still remains unclear as to how many victims Jack the Ripper actually killed. However, it is generally accepted that he killed at least four of the "Canonical" five.

Masonic Conspiracy

John Hamill, former Librarian for the Freemasons' United Grand Lodge of England (subsequently the Director of Communications) writes:

The Stephen Knight thesis is based upon the claim that the main protagonists, the Prime Minister Lord Salisbury, Sir Charles Warren, Sir James Anderson and Sir William Gull were all high-ranking Freemasons. Knight knew his claim to be false for, in 1973, I received a phone call from him in the Library, in which he asked for confirmation of their membership. After a lengthy search I informed him that only Sir Charles Warren had been a Freemason. Regrettably, he chose to ignore this answer as it ruined his story.
[\[http://www.mqmagazine.co.uk/issue-2/p-48.php\]](http://www.mqmagazine.co.uk/issue-2/p-48.php)

Further, from the Grand Lodge of British Columbia and Yukon:

Was Jack the Ripper a freemason or part of a masonic cover-up? The Royal Conspiracy theory was first floated in 1960 and given publicity by a hoax concocted by Joseph Sickert, the son of the famous artist Walter Sickert in 1973. Although Sir Charles Warren was a freemason, the Marquess of Salisbury, Sir William Gull and Sir Robert Anderson were not.

[1] The East London Observer of 13 Oct 1888 carried the following comment:

Kate Eddowes

A reporter gleaned some curious information from the Casual Ward Superintendent of Mile End, regarding Kate Eddowes, the Mitre Square victim. She was formally well-known in the casual wards there, but had disappeared for a considerable time until the Friday preceding her murder [Fri, 28 Sep 1888]. Asking the woman where she had been in the interval, the superintendent was met with the reply that she had been in the country "hopping", "But," added the woman, "I have come back to earn the reward offered for the apprehension of the Whitechapel murderer. I think I know him." "Mind he doesn't murder you too," replied the superintendent jocularly. "Oh, no fear of that," was the remark made by Kate Eddowes as she left. Within four and twenty hours afterwards she was a mutilated corpse.

This material has not been verified.

[2] Dr Thomas Bond was asked to conduct a further post-mortem. He proposed that Mylett had choked to death while drunk, and the mark on her neck having been caused by her stiff velvet collar. This was thrown out at the coroner's inquest by Wayne Baxter, who resented the intrusion.

Robert Anderson later wrote that if not for the Jack the Ripper scare, "no one would have thought of suggesting that it [the Mylett death] was a homicide".
